FOREWORD

The application of knowledge to the needs of people is one of the primary objectives of the Public Health Service.

Our publications program is a vitally important means toward achieving that end.

To the degree that this volume, with periodic supplements, becomes a helpful aid in our total communications effort, it will have served its basic purpose: to make available to professional health workers and the general public sources of knowledge which will be useful in promoting the nation's health.

PREFACE

This catalog represents the major output of non-periodical literature of the Public Health Service. It includes all the numbered publications of the Service from 1950 (when the numbering system was inaugurated) through 1962.

The catalog is essentially a reference volume, and while representative, does not include all the published materials of the Public Health Service. Omitted are periodical publications, reprints, training materials, and publications issued in limited quantites.

The catalog has four major sections. It begins with a NUMERICAL LISTING, which lists titles in numerical order by their PHS Publication Number. This is followed by a brief description of the contents of each publication, and the date of issuance or latest revision prior to 1962. This basic listing is cross-referenced in three separate ways: a TITLE LISTING, arranged in alphabetical order; a SERIES LISTING, identifying all publications which comprise special series within the over-all numbering system; and a SUBJECT INDEX, which groups publications by subject matter.

In general, only those publications issued since 1960 are still available. Information about individual publications can be obtained by writing to the Public Inquiries Branch, Office of Information and Publications, Public Health Service, U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Washington, D.C., 20201.
